Decline in Agricultural Yield

2148. SHRI J. CHITHARANJAN:
SHRI V.V. RAGHAVAN:

Will the Minister of AGRICULTURE be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the per acre yield of major agricultural products in the country has declined recently, compared to that in the neighbouring countries; and

(b) if so, the details thereof and the reasons therefor?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE (SHRI SHRIPAD YESSO NAIK): (a) and (b) The productivity of important agriculture products such as paddy, wheat, repeseed and cotton in India has been generally increasing over the year. Although it is higher compared to that of countries like Bangladesh, Pakistan, Nepal, Iran, Myanmar, Turkey in case of wheat, it is lower compared to that of some other countries like Japan and China. The crop-wise details of productivity in respect of some of neighbouring countries are given in the Statement I to IV (See below).

The productivity depends on a number of factors such as conditions of soil, facilities of irrigation, duration of the crop (gestation period between sowing and harvest), quality of seeds, timely application of quality inputs, managerial skills of farmers and availability of credit. Since these factors vary a. great deal from region to region and country to country, so does the productivity.
